Course Description

SCMA 331, Operations and Supply Chain Management (3 credit hours): Pre-req: Sophomore standing, 2.5 GPA, Business Qualified (MATH104 or MATH106/106B or MATH107 or MATH208; BSAD220; ACCT201 and ACCT202; ECON211 and ECON212; ECON215 or equivalent. Cannot be taken Pass/No Pass.

Operations and Supply Chain Management is an exciting field that applies to all different kinds of organizations. We will study activities that relate to the creation of goods and services and we will learn important tools and techniques that drive value by transforming inputs into outputs. We will spend time in this class building a strong foundation that can be applied throughout the world to virtually all productive organizations. Our focus will be in learning this new language of operations and supply chain management and practicing how we apply these tools and knowledge. We will learn about how the supply chain is transforming businesses and discuss and debate these changes. The overall objective for this class is to build confidence and practice application of these tools and techniques in the operations and supply chain field, which can be used and built upon in all business areas.

Course Objectives

My objectives for this class are:

1. To create a classroom environment that questions and examines current events and current issues in Supply Chain Management
2. To build your confidence and create awareness on what Operations Management is and apply what you learn
3. To apply these operations management and supply chain concepts and "sell" your ideas and engage in the classroom discussion
4. To gain real-world insight and take-aways that help you achieve your future goals and objectives

Textbook & Required Materials

Textbook:

Principles of Operations Management: Sustainability and Supply Chain Management, Heizer, Render and Munson. Eleventh Edition. 2020.

Canvas:

Canvas will serve as an important area for updates and upcoming assignments. You will need stable internet access to complete assignments.

Assignments

Homework/Assignments (22 @ 50 points each = 1100)

We will be working on the application of what we are learning. Generally, there will be some time allocated in most class periods to work on your homework assignments. Each assignment will be due the following class period from when it is assigned.

Knowledge Checks/Quizzes (13 @ 50 points each = 650)

We will have one knowledge check each week on Thursdays. This quiz will summarize the key takeaways of the chapters covered each week.

Yellowdig Discussions (14 weeks @ 100 points per week = 1400)

Each week, you can earn a maximum of 100 points participating in Yellowdig. For maximum points, you need to author three posts a week and comment on two of your classmate's posts. Article topics should be about anything happening in the supply chain management area – changes for commodities / companies, economic changes influencing supply chains, etc. Business magazines and websites, or newspapers would be great places to find relevant articles

Projects (2 @ 250 points = 500)

There will be a team project and an individual project. These projects will be a combination of written case studies responses/solutions, writing an executive summary, and a recorded presentation.

✓ Grading Policies

Late Work Policy

No late work will be accepted.

Grade Breakdown

Grades will be based on Assignments, Knowledge Checks, Yellowdig Discussion, and the Final Project. There will be a total of 3,650 points for this class.

Expectations and Requirements for Student Professionalism and Respectful Communication

My expectations for this class:

- This class will be a safe place for intelligent debate and discussion and it will provide practical experience that will help you in your future endeavors.
- I expect all students to be engaged in class and be prepared to "practice" their presentation and selling skills. It is important to me that real examples are used and we practice practical application.
- This class is less about the tests - and more about building good problem solving skills, which is critical in Operations and Supply Chain classes. I want you to be exposed to real-world examples and current events that help bring this subject and course material to life. I am excited to share my passion for this industry.

Under the Course and University Policies you'll find the College of Business Academic Integrity policy. For this course that means:

- Do your own work on all assignments and exams.
- Do not attempt to gain any advantage by the fabrication of events.

Course and University Policies

Accessibility Support

The University strives to make all learning experiences as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience barriers based on your disability (including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions), please let me know immediately so that we can discuss options privately. To establish reasonable accommodations, I may request that you register with Services for Students with Disabilities (SSD). If you are eligible for services and register with their office, make arrangements with me as soon as possible to discuss your accommodations so they can be implemented in a timely manner. SSD contact information: 117 Louise Pound Hall.; 402-472-3787

Academic Honesty

Academic honesty is essential to the existence and integrity of an academic institution. The responsibility for maintaining that integrity is shared by all members of the academic community. The University's Student Code of Conduct \(<https://stuafs.unl.edu/DeanofStudents/Student%20Code%20of%20Conduct%20May%20Rev%202014%20a.pdf>\) addresses academic dishonesty. Students who commit acts of academic dishonesty are subject to disciplinary action and are granted due process and the right to appeal any decision.

College of Business students are held to the standards set by the UNL Student Code of Conduct. In the Student Code of Conduct, acts of dishonesty are specified as, but not limited to: cheating, fabrication or falsification, plagiarism, abuse of academic materials, complicity in academic dishonesty, falsifying grade reports, impermissible collaboration, or misrepresentation to avoid academic work. The penalties for academic dishonesty will be severe and may range from receiving a failing grade on the test or assignment, failing the course in which academic dishonesty took place, or the possibility of expulsion from the university.

Writing Support

The Writing Center can provide you with meaningful support as you write for this class as well as every course in which you enroll. Trained undergraduate and graduate peer consultants are available to talk with you about all forms of communication. You are welcome to bring in everything from lab reports, presentations, and research papers to cover letters, application essays, and graduate theses and dissertations. Writing Center Consultants can work with you at any stage of the writing process, from brainstorming and organizing your ideas through polishing a final draft.

In 2020-21, there are two ways you can connect with a Consultant: Online (a real-time, video conversation) and eTutoring (email feedback). To learn more about these options and view video tutorials, please visit <https://www.unl.edu/writing/online-writing-center-services> (<https://www.unl.edu/writing/online-writing-center-services>). Sign up any time by visiting unl.mywconline.com (<https://unl.mywconline.com/>). For more information about the Writing Center, please visit unl.edu/writing (<http://www.unl.edu/writing>).

Counseling and Psychological Services

UNL offers a variety of options for students to aid them in dealing with stress and adversity.

Counseling and Psychological & Services (CAPS) (<https://caps.unl.edu/>) is a multidisciplinary team of psychologists and counselors that works collaboratively with Nebraska students to help them explore their feelings and thoughts and learn helpful ways to improve their mental, psychological and emotional well-being when issues arise. CAPS can be reached by calling 402-472-7450 (even after hours).

Required Use of Face Coverings for On-Campus Shared Learning Environments

As of July 17, 2020, and until further notice, all University of Nebraska–Lincoln (UNL) faculty, staff, students, and visitors (including contractors, service providers, and others) are required to use a facial covering at all times when indoors except under specific conditions outlined in the COVID 19 face-covering policy found at <https://covid19.unl.edu/face-covering-policy>.

COVID Testing Policy

For Spring 2021, the university will provide mandatory saliva-based diagnostic testing to protect our campus community in the spring. All students, faculty, and staff who will be on campus in the Spring Semester are required to be tested via this convenient saliva-based testing during the week of January 19-24.

Students will also be required to adhere to an updated Cornhusker Commitment prior to the beginning of the Spring semester, which includes an affirmative pledge to comply with all testing requirements and to follow campus safety protocols. This can be found in MyRed and will need to be completed prior to scheduling your re-entry test.

After completing your first test, the Safer Community app will let you know the date when your next test result is due, likely around 10 days. Please schedule your second test at least one day prior to that date, to ensure your new results are posted and your access to campus buildings isn't disrupted. Once we have the results from the re-entry tests, a determination will be made in close consultation with LLCHD about what level of additional testing might be needed. This may include tests of particular subsets of the community that warrant additional testing. We will continue to adapt and adjust our testing as the semester progresses.

More information can be found at <https://covid19.unl.edu/spring-testing> (<https://covid19.unl.edu/spring-testing>).

International Technology Access Policy

The College of Business online classes have been designed to give students the freedom to complete course work from anywhere in the world with reliable internet access; however, a country which has proven to be an exception has been brought to our attention. In the last few years, we have been notified by students taking online courses (particularly during visits to China) that they have not been able to access Canvas and some other websites due to internet censorship stemming from China's unique regulatory requirements (Google and YouTube are also subject to this censorship). Given that Canvas is the main resource for online class delivery, this could present difficulties especially when dealing with hard deadlines and completing synchronous class activities (virtual meetings, discussions and group work). In addition to Canvas, many online classes are using an online proctoring service which requires access to the company's website to enable proctoring appointment registration, to make required payments, and to sign on to take the exam. As such, a delay or an unforeseen change in internet access could have adverse effects on a student's grade. There have been some success stories of students being able to gain access to these restricted websites through the use of VPN, but this does not guarantee access, and, given that it subverts the country's regulations, is not something we wish to condone. So before you commit to taking online classes, please ensure that the places you plan to visit do not impose any such restrictions on internet access. Issues with internet access will not be accepted as an acceptable excuse for missing deadlines or failing to complete assignments.

ProctorU, the exam proctoring service used by many instructors, provides a page for students to test their system prior to taking an exam (<https://www.proctoru.com/testitout>). This test should be done as early as possible in order to assure that your computer system meets the minimum requirements.

Technology Access Policy

The College of Business online classes have been designed to give students the freedom to complete course work from anywhere in the U.S. or the rest of the world with reliable internet access.

Issues with internet access will not be accepted as an acceptable excuse for missing deadlines or failing to complete assignments. Examples of these issues could be lack of internet access, cessation of internet access (in particular if right before a deadline), or blocked access to Canvas and other sites from foreign countries (e.g., China), or any other.

The general recommendation for students is to avoid waiting until right before a deadline to work. If you are in Lincoln, you can always come to campus to use local computers and internet access if your personal computer or internet fails. For students outside Lincoln, having time to spare is also a good idea, as you can work on your assignments as soon as your internet access is restored. If you know in advance that you will be away from a reliable internet connection for a period of time during this class, please contact your instructor as soon as possible to see if accommodations can be arranged.
